DESCRIPTION

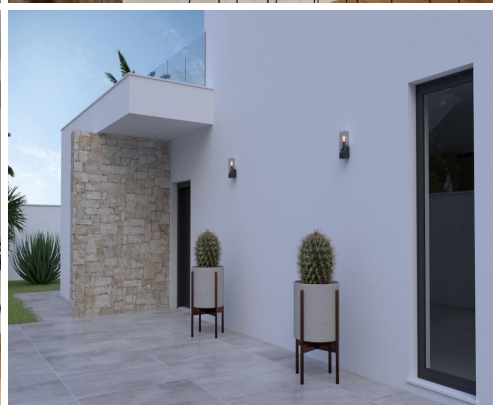

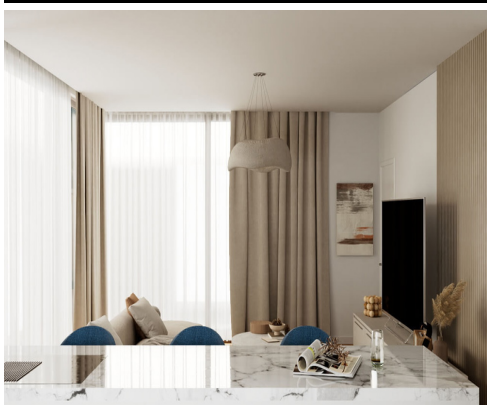

Discover an exceptional residential opportunity in the heart of the Jalon Valley. Residencial VALL DE POP is an exclusive development of 35 plots featuring modern, detached single-family villas, set in an elevated position in Alcalali and offering spectacular panoramic views over the valley. These homes stand out for their innovative construction system using advanced 3D micro-concrete panels, providing outstanding thermal insulation, airtightness and structural durability without exceeding standard price levels. With insulation thicknesses between 14 and 20 cm, no thermal bridges, highly airtight construction and renewable energy generation via solar thermal systems, the villas are designed to comply with the demanding standards of Passivhaus certification. While final certification depends on completion tests, it is already ... (enquire for further details)
